Government Of Britain Demands More Production

Increased Sacrifice Also Demanded Of British To Aid Nation's Battle

STATUS OF NATION FEARED AT STAKE

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The British government's white paper demanding increased sacrifice and more production was accepted by Britons today as a call to fight for continuance of their country as a first rate power.

The frank outline of just where Britain stands economically was declared by laborite members of parliament to be the most human statement ever issued by a British government.

They congratulated the government for taking the nation into confidence and predicted the action will result in a supreme effort by the whole populace.

Hail Diagnosis

Conservative and liberal circles both hailed the candid diagnosis of the survey but criticized the statement for not outlining a bold plan which could be put into operation immediately to improve the situation.

The survey, promising no immediate reward for an ensuing year of hard work, was the number one topic of discussion throughout the country. It overshadowed even the critical fuel situation, the bitter winter weather and other chief problems such as India and Palestine.

Admittedly the statement brought home dramatically to Britons the extreme precariousness of the country's plight.

Challenge To Trade Unions

The survey was regarded also as a challenge to trade unions. Official quarters indicated the government's next step will be to call on both trade union and industrial leaders to draw up a scheme without delay for fulfillment of the "work harder than ever" policy laid down in the statement.

It was indicated also that the cabinet is determined to carry out definite plans to reinforce the country's labor ranks by using foreign workers.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Dear Pa New: Recently, my wife and I were downtown in the evening. We noticed a blind man and his dog working the public for contributions as he played his accordion. This is not the first time he has been in our town. My wife said it made our city look cheap, as though we don't take care of our citizens and something should be done to take care of this fellow so he wouldn't have to beg on the streets. If he lives in New Castle, off of their walk, but at the street corners, cleared a nice spot on the street surface so that pedestrians would have sure footing when mounting the curbs. Others were just content to get the snow off the walk, not caring where it fell, with the result mounds of snow occur at some corners, making it treacherous for foot travelers.

Pa New is in receipt of a note from Kenneth B. Williams, of Santa Ana, Calif., a former resident of New Castle, who is with a traveling menagerie. He enclosed a picture of the mule and the covered wagon that is a part of the outfit with which he is connected. The party has traveled from coast to coast.

Pa New takes his hat off to some of the snow shovellers in the downtown area, while to others a reprimand might be in order. A number of the cleaners not only cleaned off their walk, but at the street corners, cleared a nice spot on the street surface so that pedestrians would have sure footing when mounting the curbs. Others were just content to get the snow off the walk, not caring where it fell, with the result mounds of snow occur at some corners, making it treacherous for foot travelers.

Weary Britons Battle Against New Storms

(BULLETIN)

By JOHN CAMSELL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—A new shock, embracing possibility of fresh sacrifices, hit the British people today at the end of a grim week of coal shortages and drastic light restrictions.

Fresh blizzards that blocked roads and railways threw Britain back to crisis conditions and the fuel ministry announced that the country's gas situation now has become critical.

All gas companies were requested to reduce their coal consumption by ten per cent and the people were told that unless these economies turn the scale, individual gas plants might have to be shut down.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—A new blizzard today brought Britain back almost to the crisis point in its battle against fuel shortages. The storm which had raged for more than 24 hours continued during the early hours of Saturday, inflicting a further cut in transport. Both rail and road transport were disorganized by snowfalls which in some areas were over 15 inches in.

Americans May Be Allowed More Sugar

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—

Agriculture department officials said today that each American probably will be allowed 35 pounds of sugar in 1947—an increase of 10 pounds over the present annual ration.

Their forecast was based on the allocation by the International Emergency Food Council to the United States of six million, 800 thousand tons of the world's available sugar supply for this year.

The 1947 allocation represents an increase of one million, 400 thousand tons over the five million, four hundred thousand tons this country was allotted last year.

The Agriculture department officials also predicted a substantial increase in this year's allowance of sugar to American industrial users, who now are limited to 60 per cent of the amount they used in a 1941 base period.

The government sugar experts said that the allowance to industrial users probably would be raised to 70 per cent of the 1941 base period on April 1, and to 80 per cent on July 1.

Taft-Vandenberg Split On Atomic Chief Selection

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—

The Senate's two most powerful Republican leaders today were on opposite sides of the fight over confirmation of David E. Lillenthal as the nation's atomic chief.

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, chairman of the powerful policy committee and regarded as the GOP's top man on domestic affairs, came out in a strong statement against Lillenthal.

Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., foreign relations chairman and the GOP's spokesman on international affairs, gave evidence that he will support Lillenthal by putting into the Senate Atomic committee record a pro-Lillenthal letter from famed scientist Karl T. Compton.

Observers foresaw in the situation a possible showdown between the two Republican leaders that might project itself into the 1948 presidential nomination contest.

Palestine Quota Not Raised Yet

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Britain's Colonial office say today that no decision has been made regarding the raising of the immigration quota for Palestine which permits entrance of 1,500 Jews monthly to the Holy Land.

A spokesman declared in denying reports of an impending quota increase that neither the cabinet or Palestine experts are discussing anything along these lines.

He pointed out, however, that the immigration situation is "fluid" and that the matter of an increased immigration quota is liable to crop up at any moment.

Hoover Leaves On U. S. Return Trip

LONDON, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Former President Herbert Hoover left London's Northolt Airport today for Washington to report to President Truman on his European food inspection trip.

MAKE PARAFFIN TESTS

REYNOLDSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Paraffin tests on the hands of Ray Timblin and his late wife were to be made today by Jefferson county officials to determine whether gunpowder was present.

Mrs. Timblin died earlier this week of a .22 caliber wound in her heart. Her husband said she shot herself after the two had had a minor argument.

Coroner Fred Beyers said the paraffin tests were a routine part of the investigation of the death.

Murder And Suicide Verdict Given In Pottstown Tragedy

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 22.—(INS)—A coroner's verdict of murder and suicide was recorded today in the deaths of an exclusive Pottstown dressmaker and her husband.

Montgomery County Coroner W. J. Rushong, said William Mensch, 54, pumped three 38 calibre bullets into the chest of his wife, Jennie, at point blank range while she was sitting at a sewing machine in her shop, and then fired the revolver at his own temple.

A daughter, Arlene, 14, and Mrs. Ada Hutt, a seamstress, found the couple on the floor shortly after the shooting.

Mensch, a former maintenance man, had been idle for six months since suffering a slight stroke. Detective Paul J. Gumpert said the man became obsessed with a jealous rage during his illness and falsely believed that his wife was "running around."

DIVORCE NO WAY TO CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Divorce is no way to celebrate a golden wedding anniversary.

So thinks Superior Judge Pro Tem Elmer D. Doyle, who refused to grant a decree to Frank D. Walz, 79-year-old retired hotel clerk, and Mrs. Maude Walz, 68. Judge Doyle said:

"There are too many divorces in this country without people like you joining the procession. You have been married long enough to be good examples to the younger people."

He cited the reason for the divorce request—a contest over the ownership of their home—as trivial. The couple was married April 16, 1896.

President's Request For $350,000,000 More For Foreign Relief Will Be Reviewed

OPPOSITION TO REQUEST IS SEEN

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The house foreign affairs committee acted quickly today to begin hearings Tuesday on President Truman's request for 350 million dollars for foreign relief.

Members of the appropriations committee that must approve the request indicated, however, that the entire relief program will be carefully reviewed before any legislation reaches the floor.

Mr. Truman, in a special message to congress, urged approval of the funds to be spent after the conclusion of the present UNRRA program in Europe and the Far East.

Administered by U. S.

The president proposed that the program be administered solely by the United States, but that other nations be consulted to correlate the United States program with any relief programs they may embark upon independently.

Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., economy-minded chairman of the house appropriations committee, indicated he would oppose the continuation of any relief program that did not incorporate a program which would enable needy nations to "rehabilitate their own productive resources."

Taber declared: "The American

Final Budget Cut May Be Five And Half Billion

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—A senate Republican leader fighting to hold the overall budget cut to 4½ billion dollars said today that the final house-senate compromise might go as high as 5½ billions.

The estimate was given as the senate put off until next week its expected approval of a 4½ billion dollar reduction in contrast to a house-approved slash of six billions.

"Five or five and one-half billions" was forecast by this responsible Republican as the likely reduction to emerge when house and senate conferees complete their juggling of actions taken by the two houses.

The overwhelming house vote in favor of the six billion cut, plus the predominance of six-billion supporters on the conference committee, was advanced as reason for the ultimate cut in President Truman's budget running deeper than previously indicated.

Woman Who Staged Bank Robbery Faces Life Term In Prison

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Mrs. Opal Dixon, 35-year-old mother, who held up a Des Moines bank by threats to blow up the place, faced a life term in prison today.

She was convicted by an all-woman jury yesterday on a charge of intent to rob a bank, and the life term mandatory under Iowa law. Judge Russell Jordan of the district court set Feb. 28 as the date for formal sentence.

Armed with only a hypodermic syringe which she declared contained explosives, Mrs. Dixon held up the Des Moines Bank & Trust Co. Jan. 22 and fled with nearly $3,000.

The syringe was found to have contained mouthwash when the woman was arrested an hour later in a nearby department store.

President Puts Wreath On Mt. Vernon Tomb

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—President Truman signaled the nation's observance today of the 215th anniversary of George Washington's birth when he placed a wreath on the First President's tomb at Mount Vernon.

The chief executive drove over icy roads to the historic mansion on the banks of the Potomac river.

Secret Formula Caused Blast In Los Angeles Plant

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—(INS)—

Police and fire department experts revealed today that a secret chemical formula caused the Los Angeles factory explosion in which at least 15 persons perished and 158 others were injured seriously.

Capt. Carl Halder, arson squad chief, said the formula involved the use of perchloric acid and acetic anhydride.

Halder asserted that Dr. Robert M. Magee, head chemist at the O'Connor electro-plating plant where the explosion originated, was "well aware of the explosive nature of the solution with which he was working."

No Trace of Chemist

The police expert added: "We have learned that within the week Doctor Magee remarked to a fellow employee—I don't want to be around when this stuff takes off!"

Magee was in the plant at the time of the explosion, possibly supervising installation of a plastic sheet in an acid tank, work of which was started an hour and 15 minutes before the terrific blast occurred.

No trace of him has been found. Also missing is Alice Shemeta Iba, 21-year-old Japanese American girl who was assistant electrical chemist. Identification of all 15 bodies recovered from the block of smoldering ruins was completed yesterday but search of the wreckage was continued for others possibly trapped.

East Is Digging Out Of Heaviest Snow In 6 Years

Estimate 60 Deaths Due To Storms Throughout East Coast States

PENNSYLVANIA IS NEARING NORMAL

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS)—East coast cities were digging out today from under the heaviest snowfall in six years.

The storm blanketed the coastal states from the Carolinas to Maine and then roared out into the Atlantic toward Nova Scotia.

An estimated 60 deaths occurred, most of them from heart failure because of over exertion in freeing cars, shoveling snow or battling through drifts on foot.

Thousands of Autos Stalled
Thousands of automobiles were stalled.

Limited service was resumed by the airlines after snow plows had cleared the run-ways at Washington, New York, Newark and Boston. The weather bureau said sunny but cold weather would prevail in the area today.

A total of 11.6 inches of snow fell in New York City during the 23 hour storm.

Reports from throughout Pennsylvania indicated today that the state had virtually completed digging itself out of the worst snowstorm in six years and was approaching normal.

Predicts Committee Will Vote For Ban On Closed Shop

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Chairman Hartley (R) N. J., of the house labor committee predicted today that his group will vote to ban the closed shop from industry-wide collective bargaining.

Hartley declared that sentiment has grown within his committee for such action in the wake of weeks of public hearings. Testimony is expected to be completed March 12 or 13.

Hartley said in an interview that committee opinion was leaning in favor of a complete ban on closed shops, including those already in existence. He said that the question of whether union shops should also be included in the proposed ban is still in doubt.

Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, expedition commander, and Rear Adm. Richard H. Cruzen, task force commander, will make the decision when to abandon the tent camp and seek further aerial scouting of the ice pack as a basis for this decision. Cruzen was due to arrive at the Bay of Whales at 8 a. m. Saturday after a speedy trip eastward across the Ross sea from McMurdo Sound on the icebreaker Burton Island.

The tent town can be folded quickly whenever the signal is given. Its 197 men will be brought out aboard the Burton Island. Most of the camp equipment will be abandoned, but Cruzen said such supplies, including vehicles, were largely surplus. Dry food of the Antarctic is a perfect preservative, and anything left behind will be available for any future expedition.

depth. In many sections 30-mile-an-hour winds piled up huge drifts. Key routes through the midlands and roadways leading to South Wales coal centers were severely affected.

Having Tough Time
Rail chiefs warned they are having a tough time of it in the struggle to build up coal reserves. The efforts of coal ships were further imperiled by gales and ice flows.

The weather forecast was not heartening. It predicted more snow and frost. If the blizzard continues another 12 hours it is feared that efforts of thousands of miners, railway men and others to keep coal moving to power plants over the week-end will be nullified.

London was among points hit by the renewed heavy snowfall. Planes scheduled to and from the capital were disrupted.

Numerous villages in Yorkshire were virtually cut off from all communication with the outside world. Temperatures generally were below freezing, adding to the hardship of householders getting along on small rations of coal and coke and forced to forego use of electricity for five hours daily.

The whole issue of the government demands for further production will be debated in parliament for three days early in March just before Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton makes his budget speech.

There was one death in Harrisburg, and another in nearby Carlisle, while in western Pennsylvania, one fatality was reported in Swissvale.

Most of the deaths were caused by heart attacks, induced by the weather or over-taken due to shoveling the snow.

Highway clearing crews and snowplows were still on the job clearing up the state's main road arteries, while city traction companies were nearly back to normal schedules today, following a hectic period of coping with huge drifts and stalled automobiles.

Father And Sons Banquet At 'Y' Success Friday

Crowd Of 120 Boys And Their Fathers Attend Dinner; Inspect 'Y' Facilities

Some 60 boy members and their fathers gathered in the banquet hall at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening for the annual father and son dinner of the association.

The dinner was opened with the entire assemblage singing "America" with "Bud" Rigby leading the piano accompaniment by Don Clark. The invocation was pronounced by Dal Matthews, member of the "Y" leaders corps, and the speech of welcome was delivered by Robert L. Meermans, general secretary of the branch.

The evening's address was made by Rev. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of the Highland U. P. church, who gave an inspiring talk to the group on the relationship between father and son.

Have Responsibility
"The great responsibility of the father is to set a fine example for his son," said Rev. Ferguson, "but the bargain does not stop there. The son owes an equal debt to himself and his father by following in his footsteps to build and maintain his strength of character."

David Gatrall, boy's work secretary, acted as toastmaster for the occasion. Toast to the fathers was given by Jay Rudolph, Jr., a member of the "Y" leaders, and the toast to the sons was delivered by Jay Rudolph, Sr.

Following the dinner the boys and their dads enjoyed swimming in the pool, table tennis and looked in on a Church league basketball game. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Oscar Saul and Mrs. White.

Mrs. John Meehan, of Energy, was hostess to 19 ladies at the Wayne W. C. T. U. meeting Tuesday evening in her home.

Bouquets of white carnations in honor of Frances Willard, one of the nation's outstanding temperance workers, were given to Mrs. Eli Yoho and Mrs. Anna Weimer. The program was in honor of this famous woman with Mrs. Tessie Beltz conducting the devotions using as her theme, "Let us put on the whole armor of God and be up and doing the great work set before us," assisted by Mrs. Victor Markle. Mrs. Harry Houk gave a short biography of Frances Willard. One of her common expressions was "We'll have no saloons nor billiard rooms and then we'll need no religion."

A quiz followed with Mrs. John Cunningham answering the question, when was the Willard memorial fund inaugurated? Mrs. George Cover, How is the fund secured? Synthetic Rubber

President Truman recently, in asking Congress for continued controls on the allocation of rubber, declared that national security demands the preservation of the synthetic rubber industry, and he asked Congress for legislation to maintain that industry.

There can be little argument that the synthetic industry should be continued in the interests of national safety. We all remember what happened to us when the Japs unexpectedly took control of things in the Orient and destroyed the rubber plantations which had been supplying us with the crude material. We don't want that to happen again. The blow was very serious, and might have been almost fatal had it not been for the creation of our synthetic rubber industry. And we know how difficult and heart-breaking a task that was.

Furthermore, there is a strong possibility that synthetic rubber will become better and more useful for certain purposes than the crude natural product, and we certainly do not want to turn back the clock of progress merely so that we can trade with the rubber barons in the Far East.

What President Truman failed to mention is that if our synthetic rubber industry is permitted to die this will come about because the internationalists in both of our political parties are permitted to have their way. To men like Henry Wallace the fetish of international trade is more important than almost everything else. Now, all of us favor a reasonable amount of international trade, but we don't want it to be at the expense of our national safety nor of the living standards of the American worker.

Protest Rejected

Moscow should read a warning in Secretary of State Marshall's note rejecting the Russian charge that a remark on Soviet policy made recently by Undersecretary Acheson was slanderous, hostile, and "inadmissible".

The American reply was courteous almost to a fault. Secretary Marshall went to some trouble to remind Foreign Secretary Molotov of the circumstances that produced Mr. Acheson's comment. Under the American system of government, he pointed out, an official of the executive branch when called before a legislative committee is obliged to answer relevant questions candidly. Therefore, he said, Mr. Acheson's reply to Senator McKellar could not be described as "inadmissible, but was rather in the line of duty."

But Secretary Marshall, though he softened the impact of his words by quoting the entire exchange between Senator McKellar and Mr. Acheson, did not withdraw the description of Russia's policy as "aggressive and expanding." That statement, he said, was a "restrained comment." He added that the Soviet should not take candor for hostility, but he implied very clearly that even if Mr. Acheson had been more outspoken the Russians would have had no right to object.

So Moscow can consider itself on notice that further attacks of this kind will not only be fruitless but may well get less polite handling. Moreover, if Russia does not like to have her foreign policy termed "aggressive and expanding," the best way to avoid having it so labeled is to change it so that it will deserve more complimentary adjectives.

The Philharmonic

A battle between the conductor and board of directors of a symphony orchestra is, under ordinary circumstances, of purely local concern. But the controversy which has lately resulted in a change of leaders for the New York Philharmonic-Symphony society is of broader interest. The Philharmonic is not only the oldest but one of the greatest American symphony orchestras. By virtue of the fact that its Sunday afternoon concerts have been broadcast over a national network for many years it has an audience which now extends over the greater part of the United States.

This larger audience is not particularly well-informed on the details of the scrap which led to the resignation in mid-season of Artur Rodzinski as the orchestra's conductor and it would probably find it difficult to judge them if it did. But it has every reason to be deeply concerned over the decision of the Philharmonic's management to go back to the system of splitting the chore of leading the orchestra among five different conductors.

Great symphony orchestras are not made or maintained this way. The Boston Symphony is one of the world's finest because it has been trained and disciplined by a single great conductor over a long period of years. The Philadelphia Orchestra is another, brought to its musical apogee by Leopold Stokowski and maintained at the same high level by Eugene Ormandy, his successor.

Under a mediocre conductor and later under a series of temporary ones, the New York Philharmonic declined. Rodzinski, in his three years as conductor, brought it back to the top rank of symphony orchestras. It would be unfortunate to permit it to go into another period of decline for lack of the type of leadership it deserves.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS
CHILDS

Young Has Plan To Meet R. R. Situation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The headline says that the Pennsylvania Railroad lost money in the last quarter of 1946, and the blame is put on "government controls."

In December the Interstate Commerce Commission, after a long delay, granted the railroads an increase in freight rates of 17 per cent, which means an additional billion dollars in revenue for the roads.

All through the '30s, the ailing railroad industry limped along. Then, with the transfusion of the vast sums spent by the government during the war, the railroads flourished again. Red ink on the books was replaced by black.

Now, once again, financial blight seems to be overtaking this basic industry. While a freight-rate increase was long overdue, the cure for the illness does not lie in this remedy alone.

Scrappy Robert R. Young, the financier who bosses four railroads, believes the answer lies in abolishing monopoly control, which has stifled competition and innovation. The railroads, as Young sees it, are still living in the era when it wasn't necessary to give service because there were no competing forms of transportation.

Has Another Plan
With his shrewd sense of public relations, Young is now coming up with another plan for getting his ideas across. He is about to announce a federation for railway progress, and part of the federation will be a board of consultants made up of headline names. Among those whom Young has already enrolled are Edward S. Stewart, Jr., former secretary of state, Clare Booth Luce and Adm. William F. Halsey.

Any organization interested in the railroads would be eligible to join the federation. This would include labor unions, stockholders, shippers and other groups with a stake in the transportation system.

Young is, of course, aiming at the association of American Railroads. He has repeatedly charged that this trade association of the railroads is dominated by a small group of New York bankers and insurance executives. Young has taken his own road out of the association.

Fix Economic Pattern
How powerful the railroads are in fixing the economic pattern of the country is being demonstrated just now in the West. Henry J. Kaiser's steel plant at Pontona, Calif., is in competition with the Geneva, Utah, plant of the United States Steel Corp. Both companies applied at about the same time for a reduction in rail rates for the West Coast. On March 1, rates for Geneva to Pacific Coast points will be decreased 31 per cent. Rates can be lowered by railway rate bureaus without approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Kaiser got no reduction. According to Kaiser advertisements carried in western newspapers, the reduction for Geneva will mean a saving of $1,200,000 in U. S. Steel's freight bill. As a result of the 17 per cent hike ordered by the ICC in December, Kaiser's bill will go up $600,000.

It doesn't take a financial expert to see what the difference means in terms of competition. This is particularly true since Kaiser is faced with the necessity of living up to the terms of a wartime government loan, while U. S. Steel acquired the Geneva plant on a war surplus basis for about 25 cents on the dollar.

Asks Intervention
Such discrimination could mean the difference between failure and survival. That is why Kaiser has asked the ICC to suspend and investigate the reductions for Geneva. Kaiser has gone to the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice to ask them to intervene, too, on the ground that the action is part of a pattern of monopoly discrimination.

The railroads have the power today to lower the rates for one manufacturer and not for another. That can be equivalent to the power to determine the economic future of the nation. Railroad directors are also in many instances the directors of giant American industry. If this becomes a pattern to force out all competitors, then we will get a freeze of things as they are, and out of that will come, sooner or later, the final control of government.

There is wide popular interest in Young and his challenge to the narrow group that appears to dominate a basic American industry. This interest is recognition of the importance of the struggle that is being waged. To sink back into monopoly control and concentration is to risk a repetition of the cycle of boom and bust.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

One of my readers has asked me to define the meaning of the word "gentleman."

"What is a gentleman in the true meaning of the word?" she wrote. "Does wealth and power and social position make a gentleman, or can a person with moderate means and without any particular family background be called a gentleman?"

I did quite a bit of research to give the inquirer a proper answer, but, frankly, I did not get much satisfaction out of my studies. The most unsatisfactory of all the answers is the dictionary definition.

Webster defines a gentleman as follows:
1) A man well born; sometimes above the social condition of a yeoman. 2) A well-bred man of fine feelings, good education and social position. 3) A servant, esp. a valet, of a person of high rank."

That dictionary definition unfortunately is what makes a lot of bores and churls consider themselves gentlemen, and apparently a poet of the old-time writers and poets considered one of the basic requisites of a gentleman to be high-born and well bred.

So let us forget the standard definition and take our own.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Today of course is the 22nd of February . . . Washington's Birthday . . . none of us remember the great man . . . but we do remember what we have read and the memory of those printed pages is pleasing.

Today . . . the cold and snow . . . reminds us of the winter that General Washington and his men spent at Valley Forge . . . With just a handful of men . . . no clothing or equipment . . . food on the scarce list . . . suffering . . . yes, each man really had it tough . . . yet with all that . . . plus a long line of defeats in the background . . . George Washington came through with the greatest military move in military history after such an ordeal. It has been said time and time again by men who know . . . that when the crossing of the Delaware was made and the Hessians surprised and then the move on toward the various objectives made and maintained . . . That was the greatest military move of all times.

George Washington had the most difficult time of any President of these United States . . . being the number one man . . . in the number one job . . . he had to make his own way . . . No man had ever attempted such a job before. The things that he did as First President are remembered more than the things that other Presidents from that time until this are remembered. In fact not everyone can name all the Presidents from Washington to Truman.

Aside from assuming a most difficult task . . . that of starting these United States out on the right track . . . George Washington suffered constantly with troublesome health. From the time he had smallpox at the age of 19 until he died of a cold . . . he constantly had to watch his health. Several times after he became President it was feared that heavy colds would put him down for the count.

Today we like to remember Washington at Valley Forge . . . his beloved home . . . and we like the story of the cherry tree . . . glory be the USA.

The World and the Mud Puddles

IT WAS EXPECTED

One unpalatable aftermath of the long New Deal regime is the outbreak of literary rash which afflicts certain devotees of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. Following the pattern of the former President's widow, there seems to be a general movement to cash in on fame and popularity of the man who shattered American precedent by four consecutive elections to the chief magistracy.

The general purport of the literary efforts, of course, is laudatory. This effect is decidedly doubtful in some cases. In practically all the outpouring of reminiscences there is discernible a desire of the authors to shine in the reflected glory of intimacy with their former leader. "Confidential" information of the most private nature is played up, sometimes with total disregard for the ordinary proprieties.

Since Mr. Roosevelt's death we have been treated with memoirs by Frances Perkins and Elliott Roosevelt. Madame Perkins, it may be said, did not transgress the rules of courtesy, although her contributions are a bit on the "goosey" side from the standpoint of adulation. The revelations of Son Elliott, as his readers have noted, are unrestrained by consideration of good manners, insofar as they apply to certain prominent international figures, and consist principally of anti-British and pro-Russian propaganda.

Now we are about to receive from the publishers a huge volume of recollections and inside information compiled from some nine hundred volumes of a diary kept by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., during his tenure as Secretary of the Treasury. Advance experts indicate that this work in some respects will be more candid than laudatory, although perhaps intended otherwise. An embarrassing situation has arisen from the demand by the present Secretary of the Treasury that Mr. Morgenthau return his array of diaries to the Treasury Department, as they are said to contain many official documents which properly belong in government files. On the heels of this demand an anonymous employee of the Interior Department alleges that "Curmudgeon" likes on departing from office, had some fifty files of papers trucked away from the departmental quarters, the inference being that the documents are to provide for Mr. Ike's literary mill.

There is a strong suspicion in Washington that the late President Roosevelt himself had removed from the official executive files some vital confidential papers which might shed light on many subjects, from Pearl Harbor to war expenditures.

President Truman, to his credit, indicates disapprobation of this utilization of official documents for private literary purposes and states that there will be no files removed from the government archives when he departs from the White House. He seems inclined to favor the old-fashioned idea that public documents are public property.

In the meantime, the English-speaking world, at least, awaits with pardonable curiosity the completion and release of some volumes of memoirs now in preparation by former Prime Minister Winston Churchill. If these memoirs are frank and unbiased, they doubtless will shed more light on many international issues and on the personality and diplomatic efforts of Mr. Roosevelt than the works of family and former cabinet biographers. In any event, Mr. Churchill's contribution to history is certain to be an example of excellent English writing.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

BAD LANGUAGE IS A BAD HABIT

I must read many letters describing children, some only three or four years old, who curse their parents. More frequently the cursing child reported is about eight, twelve or sixteen.

As nearly as I can ascertain, practically all children who, at whatever age, curse their parents, built up the pattern of doing so at a much earlier age. They began calling their parents "others" by milder names of contempt. Sometimes, of course, the cursing child has heard other members of the family curse. But many children began at an early age to curse parents who themselves were always careful of their language.

Effective Punishment
To parents who themselves use only fit speech, the following advice is given: When you must spank your tot, or punish him in any other way, be sure to do it effectively (which means consistently and with self-control. My bulletin, "How Teach Tot Meaning of No" shows how). Then he won't venture to strike at you with his hand or tongue. If he does you can be sure your discipline has been mere mockery.

When you hear the tot call any person by an ugly name contemptuously (regardless of the name) spank him soundly, at once and without exception. Say nothing. Just operate like a machine. Soon this bad practice by him will cease, having brought him immediate strong discomfort always. Be far more concerned with his attitude as he uses the bad word than with the word itself. As the child grows older don't relax on these matters.

When he merely utters an ugly word as an exclamation or in seeming self-amusement, not directed to any person or thing, you need not be much concerned. Having always set a good example, calmly say to him, "We do not say that." If he persists in using the word proceed to spank him soundly.

Tax Reduction Hopes Dim In 1947 Congress Session
Library Of Congress Aid To Senate Speech Makers
See Moscow Hedging On Free News Promises

(Special To Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Despite speculation and promises, the odds are still against any tax reduction this session of Congress. The reason: President Truman holds the key to the question, and he is still saying no.

The president, through his veto authority, has legislative power equal to one-sixth of each House of Congress. That power can be expected to tip the balance on the tax cut question.

The Republican Congress will not pass a 20 per cent "across-the-board" reduction bill. There is a good chance that it will pass some kind of graduated bill, sweetened for the low income taxpayer by an increase in personal exemptions.

But with the president emphatic in his opposition, any tax cut bill probably would be vetoed. The prospects are that both Houses would not muster the necessary two-thirds vote to pass the bill over a veto.

The trend is toward a red hot partisan battle over the whole tax and budget issue. That will play into the president's hand, because most Democrats will line up with him. And Republicans cannot pass legislation over a veto without substantial Democratic support.

The Library of Congress has an emergency service for any senator who gets stuck in a middle-of-the-night speech because he cannot remember the exact words of a quotation he wants to use.

The "Library-to-the-rescue" service goes into action when the senator jots down as much of the quotation as he can remember. A page phones this information to the library, a quarter-mile away.

There, reference workers go to work. They dig out the quotation, write it on a slip of paper. A basket zips the paper through an underground carrier system to a room right off the Senate floor. A page runs the precious paper to the senator's desk.

The library says it has a lot of these rush calls. And it never knows just what a senator will be asking for next.

Officials attach greatest importance to the sincerity of Russian pledges to allow full, uncensored news coverage of the forthcoming Moscow meeting of Big Four foreign ministers in March.

When the meeting was proposed in December, Russian Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov promised that correspondents would be allowed to cover the meeting with the same freedom that they covered those in New York and Paris.

However, there now are signs of this session of Congress. The reason: President Truman holds the key to the question, and he is still saying no.

Later, Moscow hedged again by saying that the correspondents who came in to cover the conference would be allowed to write freely only on the activities of the meeting. They wouldn't, for instance, be able to report on other events in Russia, unless censored.

Now there are signs that Moscow will hedge on the number of correspondents to be admitted. The plea is that there is only a certain amount of space available for both officials and correspondents.

In other words, if the attending foreign ministers have large staffs of advisers and State Secretary George C. Marshall plans to take 100—the number of correspondents will be correspondingly cut.

Behind all this is the fear that, after the peace conference, Moscow will sharply curtail the number of correspondents permanently stationed there. And these correspondents, it is feared, will face even sharper restrictions than in the past.

Hints On Etiquette

It is correct to say "man and wife" when referring to husband and wife. The use of "man" in the sense of "husband" has the sanction of time.

State Police Say:—

Two vehicles traveling at the rate of 50 miles per hour, the legal speed limit, approach each other 148 feet per second. Keep this fact in mind when you attempt to pass another car proceeding the same direction. If two cars traveling in opposite directions on a three-lane highway attempt to pass two other cars with the center lane used to complete the maneuver, you are closing the distance between your car and the oncoming car at the rate of 148 feet per second.

Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(I. N. S. Foreign Editor)

One of the greatest experiments in the history of imperialism, with an outcome that no one can foretell, was launched by the British Labor government of Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee.

His momentous statement to the House of Commons guaranteeing that independence would be given to "responsible" leaders of India by June, 1948, at the latest was coupled with appointments of Lord Louis Mountbatten as viceroy in place of Field Marshal Viscount Wavell.

The criticism and confusion that flooded the House of Commons in the wake of Attlee's declaration left one undeniable factor paramount.

Labor government and its attendant Socialism had turned to the throne as one possible solution to a crisis that had been deemed intolerable and insurmountable.

Lord Mountbatten is first cousin of King George VI of England, who perhaps uncomfortably finds himself at this moment in the 113rd degree heat of South Africa, as far removed in many respects from India as though he were in Buckingham Palace.

But Mountbatten's record as a soldier and a statesman is untouchable, and unblemished. With his leadership of the wartime commandos and his brilliancy as fleet admiral outstanding as contributions to victory in the war against Germany and Japan, his appointment may have significance far beyond and above superficial indications. It is not unusual for a British Labor government—although there have been only two of them—to appoint aristocrats by birth to positions of great importance. Attlee turned to the Duke of Gloucester, brother of King George and now a regent in his absence, to take over the governorship of Australia.

But the naming of Mountbatten to sit in the Vice-Regal Palace at New Delhi would seem to indicate some sort of a last-ditch attempt by the British regime to salvage at least some part of the Indian empire from the dissolution that seems inevitable.

Attlee made it clear in his statement to the House that the presumably autonomous states of India, ruled by individual princes and loyal to the Crown, would not automatically surrender their prerogatives to the independent government that must be formed by the summer of 1948.

The future status of these states, within or outside of the framework of the empire, hinges upon decisions to be taken by the Indian National Assembly. The Rajas, Maharajahs, Gaekwars and other ranks of hereditary Indian autocrats are their places upon this assemblage, and their votes are certain to be of tremendous importance. And equally so will be the personality, background and "drawing power" of Lord Mountbatten, who planned the first cross-channel operation in the European war and carried the British flag high and triumphant in the Far East. His name has made history before and may well do so again.

Radio Big Factor In Police Work Here

Sergeant Dent Shields calling a cruiser car from the sergeant's desk at the police station.

Lieutenant Thomas Jones receiving the call as Patrolman Ralph Criswell drives the cruiser car along North street.

In days of years ago when police were needed, news had to be telephoned to police headquarters, after which a sergeant there would instruct officers to start for the scene in an auto.

But, those days are gone because the city police now have cruiser cars equipped with radio so they can talk back and forth from anywhere they may be with the radio operator, a desk sergeant, at police headquarters who operates a broadcast system.

Hence, when a call is sent to police, it is "put on the air" with instructions from WPGT (the call for city police) to cruiser car officers to go to the scene at once. The officers use a mechanism through which they can receive orders and also tell the sergeant how the orders are being executed, as the sergeant sits at a desk in police station, which contains a "hub" and loudspeaker.

The city also has a Gamewell alarm system. The sergeant can flash on a light in 19 call boxes, located strategically throughout the city. When illuminated they notify the patrolmen on the "beat" "he is wanted".

To the right of Sergeant Shields in the picture is a police docket in which all arrests and dispositions are recorded; and the Gamewell tape which is carried on a wheel, records the time the officers "report in".

On the extreme left is the radio receiving set and next to it, another portion of the Gamewell system. Sergeants at police headquarters are Dent Shields, Carl Wallace, Grover Syling and Gilmore Smith.

or assign him to sit in a chair for a definite period for punishment. Don't continue warping. No shouting, no scolding. Sometimes this will suffice; more often it will not.

Some years ago I said and wrote that merely to ignore such words would always work. I was wrong. It may be well to try this ignoring for a day or so but if it does not work do something effective. Be just as consistent then with pain as if you were training him to avoid the fireplace or gas jet. Don't go on kidding yourself. Face reality. Use common sense.

If your child eight or ten deliberately curses or the like, an effective penalty may be to require him to write the expression on old paper several hundred times (a painful experience). But this older child should, instead, be able to respond to reasoning by a very calm, loving parent. Certainly any means of force is not likely to work with the adolescent when he curses. You had better wait until you and he are wholly calmed down. Nobody really reasons with a person when angry with that person. No one responds reasonably when greatly vexed. As a rule, reasoning in a favorable atmosphere should grow more powerful as the child of any age grows older. The trouble is that many parents trust too much to reasoning with the tot and failing at it, will reason less and less as the child grows older.

Christian Laymen Addressed By Judge W. Walter Braham

George Bauman Of Central Christian Church Named President Of Disciples Laymen's Group

More than 100 laymen representing District No. 2 of the Disciples of Christ church of Lawrence, Beaver and Butler counties, assembled in the auditorium of the First Christian church on the Public Square Friday evening to listen to an inspiring address by President Judge of Lawrence County, W. Walter Braham. Judge Braham selected for his challenge to the assemblage of men the thought that men in these days should adhere more closely to the Bible and its teachings. If such were the case down through the years, men would not always have been at war and constantly fighting. He reiterated that unless men abide by the teachings of the Holy Book, the world is doomed by its own hands. Election of officers for the year took place, with the following results: President, George Bauman, Central Christian, New Castle; vice president, J. R. Mitchell, First Christian, New Castle; secretary, Lawrence Wooley, Beaver Falls Christian, and treasurer, W. A. Bliss, Beaver Christian church. The group moved to the church dining room following the address and election, where a splendid dinner was served. The fellowship period and lunch was directed by the elders of the First Christian church, with the ladies of the church serving. Presiding officer over the program was B. D. Phillips Jr. of Butler, with Dave Lewis of Central church directing the song singing. James Bowman was heard in a vocal selection and the First Christian men's chorus presented several selections. The offertory piano solo was played by James Anthony of First Christian church. The group will assemble in May in the Christian church of Beaver.

BURNING SOOT IS CAUSE OF BLAZE

Three fire companies were called to the home of Leroy Cox, of 434 West Grant street, around 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, when burning soot from the chimney spilled out onto the floor of the home through an open grate, setting fire to the floor. An alarm was sounded from Box 18. Damage of around $200 was reported by Assistant Chief W. H. Hawk.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 22.—There's a bit of irony today in a Hollywood caravan coming to Salt Lake City as part of the Centennial celebration. Hollywood never will have a similar celebration. As a free, independent and self-governing city, it expired exactly 37 years ago. It's life as a city lasted but seven years. However the outside world may regard it, Hollywood since that time has been just another piece of the trouble is that the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the U. S. Government can't agree on how big a piece it is. Your reporter knows. He tried to find out. Up to a week or so ago, your reporter's ignorance about Hollywood as a place was abysmal. He got to thinking about it when invited to the world premier of Enterprise's "Ramrod" in Salt Lake City. A city which has lived and grown for 100 years is a very definite and tangible place. You suddenly realize in concrete fashion the magic dateline, "Hollywood," covers a lot of territory. More than being just a place it's a symbol for an industry, the label for a product. Look at 20th Century-Fox, for example, it's huge lot is partly in Los Angeles, partly in Beverly Hills. M-G-M is in Cuyler City. So are the Selznick and Hal Roach studios. Warner's is at Burbank and Universal-International at Universal City. Enterprise in Los Angeles, and Republic at North Hollywood, which definitely isn't a part of Hollywood. There are lots of movie stars who neither live nor work in Hollywood. Like Clark Gable and Mickey Rooney, for example. They live in Encino and work in Culver City. Hollywood has every stars in its population. Most of them prefer

Sure, sure, some of those French dishes are good, and smorgasborg has its points, and the Hungarians score with their goulash, but for real, genuine gustatory delight, for victuals that ring the gong, can you think of anything better than Southern fried chicken and waffles?

Thousands Of Animals, Birds Killed On Roads Of District During '46

S. W. Jackson, District Engineer, of District 1-0, comprising Lawrence, Mercer, Venango, Crawford, Erie, Forest and Warren counties, has released his annual report showing the total number of wild and domestic animals and birds killed on state highways in the district during the year 1946.

Mr. Jackson's report, tabulated monthly from information submitted by Department of Highways caretakers, is an actual count of animals and birds removed in their trips over the highways. As far as known this is the only section of the country where such information is collected and reported.

Rabbits Top List

Greatest sufferers at the hand of motorists was the common rabbit, whose forays across the highways in the counties accounted for 6,603 of the deaths. A total of 1,153 were killed in Lawrence county during the year.

Cats, habitual nocturnal prowlers, are second on the list with 1,171 killed in the district and 169 meeting death in this county. Third is the opossum, with an area total of 899 and 140 in the county, while another high total is the skunk, with 801 being killed, 42 in our county.

Many Dogs Killed

Next to the cat on the domestic animal fatality list is the dog, with 666 killed in the district, 169 of these deaths occurring in Lawrence county. Chickens stand third on the domestic list with a 380 total.

Other animals and birds placing high on the report are woodchucks, 546, squirrels, 259, and ringneck pheasants, 145.

The list reveals that no dead sheep, mink, beaver, geese, horses, sheep or mules were reported in the district.

Grand Total Given

Totals for the district show 11,900 animals and birds were killed, with Lawrence county motorists accounting for 1,444 wild birds and animals and 310 of the domestic variety.

Crawford county had the highest total for the year, 3,179.

St. Joseph's Group Conducts Meeting

Rev. Fr. John M. Unger, spiritual director, opened the meeting of the Young Ladies Sodality Friday evening with the little office.

Perfect Betty Helbley presided, and each committee head spoke on the duties, giving the sodalists an idea of what duties the committee performs. Fr. Unger also gave a demonstration on baptism, explaining the various steps. He also answered questions asked by the sodalists.

The meeting closed with prayer. On Sunday, March 2, the sodality will receive holy communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass.

WHEAT FROM THE FIELD, OR BREAD TO YOUR DOOR

Did you ever stop to think how your daily bread is linked to motor truck transportation? That delicious slice of toast you had this morning did a lot of travelling by motor truck before it got to you.

First, the wheat from the field to the farmer's bins, then from the bins to the grain elevators, from the elevators to the flour mill, from the flour mill to the bakery, and finally from the bakery to you.

All of it done quickly because of motor trucks, all of it necessary so you can get your toast in the morning. The toast is a small item, but back of it is a lot of industry, modern business methods and, most important, the motor trucks that get it through.

Farrell Beats New Castle; Wampum Wins Section 21 Title

Hammond Stars With Steelers Winning 35-30

Mercer County Teams Make Clean Sweep In Sectional Tilts With New Castle

SPEAR CIALLELLA NEW CASTLE STARS

Farrell High Steelers made it a clean sweep for Mercer county schools in Section Three over New Castle's "Whiz Kids" by winning last night 35 to 30 at the Farrell court. A crowd of about 2,500 fans saw the game.

Farrell by winning last night remained in the section fight, with eight wins and three defeats, and if the defeat Sharon next Tuesday and Ambridge dumps Aliquippa, it will be a three-way tie for the lead and will necessitate a playoff series.

John Hammond Stars
Big John Hammond, the Farrell center, not only took the lead in Section Three scoring with his 21 points, but field goals and seven fouls. Hammond has 136 points and Black 122. The big colored boy was a beast last night.

Black was held to six points by the close Farrell guarding. Don Spears took New Castle scoring honors with seven points, and played a fine game, as did Tony Ciallella and Gene Gribble, the latter starting at guard for the injured Walters.

Farrell Leads Every Period
Farrell took the lead in the first few minutes and never surrendered it. At the first period Farrell led 12 to 4 and at halftime 17 to 13. The end of the third period saw Farrell leading 27 to 21. New Castle drew up to 30 to 28 in the final period, but that was the nearest the locals came to making a game out of it.

New Castle lost Black in the third period on five fouls and Janacone took over. Coach Bill Douglas used 12 players in the game, Janacone being the only scoring sub.

Outside of Hammond, Farrell was just an ordinary ball club, the rest of the team making 14 points. New Castle always runs into one of these boys who get "score-happy" on their home court, Moranz doing the same thing at Ambridge recently. Farrell defeated New Castle here earlier 29-28, and Sharon defeated New Castle twice, causing the Mercer county landslide.

New Castle will end the season next Tuesday at home by meeting Ellwood City, and hope to close the sectional race with four and eight. "Chuck" Rea will be playing his final game for New Castle against Ellwood City and so will Tate. Farrell won the preliminary last night, 32-25.

'Quips Tounce Ellwood, 53-31

Valley Quint Now Deadlocked With Sharon For Leadership Of Section III

(Special To The News)
ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 22.—Aliquippa's powerful cagers blasted Ellwood here last night, 53-31 to pull themselves into a tie with Sharon for the leadership of Section III. Since the Tigers were idle last night both aspirants now have won nine and lost two.

Led by their scoring aces, Cable, Cerevala and Zugay, the Lippe trowsers shook off a tight first half to outscore the Wolverines, 35 to 16. Cable was the big gun in the win, hitting the nets for 16 points. Don O'Hara, with 11 and Mike Gregg with 10, paced the losers. The half-time score was 18-15 in favor of the invaders.

Play Ambridge Next
Next Tuesday the "Quips" will engage the Ambridge quint the season's finale, while Sharon will tangle with their deadly foes, the Farrell "Steelers". A stumble by either team will cost them the championship while if they both win a play-off, reminiscent of last campaign, will be necessary.

Aliquippa's reserves took the preliminary last night, also, 41-37.

Gaston Post Is Victorious In Title Battle

Local Legion Team Takes Deciding Game For County Championship Last Night

PLAY BUTLER COUNTY CHAMPS

Victorious over New Wilmington in their county championship title game last night at George Washington Junior High, the Perry S. Gaston Post team will meet the champions of the Butler County league next week, as they enter the elimination round. Last night's score was 45-35.

The New Wilmington boys were not used to the wide open spaces of the George Washington floor, and despite the fact that they played a close guarding game, were swept off their feet by the fast play of the champs.

Janacone ably stepped into the shoes of Tom Carey, who was unable to play last night, and led the attack of the local team with seven field goals and three fouls for 17 points, with Vince Kelly totalling 11 and Joe Cooper 10.

Cathcart with 12 points and Bob Cooper with 10 were high men for the visitors, but the New Wilmington ace, was fairly well bottled up most of the evening by John Zubrowski, who played a stellar game on defense for the champions.

The New Castle boys were out in front, right from the start, and led at half time by a score of 19-12, with the tempo stepping up in the second half as both teams put on full speed.

The Rees Flannery coached machine trailed the third period by a lone point, but won the final stanza 9 to 6 to give them the triumph. Baker was best for the losers with 16 points.

Hank Greenberg Signs Contract With Pittsburgh

Believe Home Run Hitter Will Get $65,000 For 1947 Season As Pirate

By DAVID J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—There was neither ulterior design nor hanky-panky of any sort behind Hank Greenberg's extended program of hot-and-cold running tactics with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and right decisively did he say so today.

He said, in fact, that there had been very little hesitancy on his part—and only one change of mind. That was when he signed an estimated $65,000 one-year contract with the Pirates yesterday. Two weeks before, he had publicly announced that he wouldn't.

But, take from Greenberg, that particular decision wasn't made then. It was reached, he said, the day he learned that he had been waived out of the American League into an inter-league sale by Detroit to the Pirates. Yes, the Pirates looked very fine to him; that wasn't it.

Fans Changed Mind

It was a case of Hank Greenberg not looking very good to himself at the time because:
"I figured I couldn't be much use to anybody, if an entire league passed me up. With this was a sense of shock and disillusionment."

What finally did? Two things, said the 1946 major league home run champion; and it seemed that neither of these was persistence by the Pittsburgh management. The latter, according to Hank, was a more or less negative factor in influencing his final decision.

It was the Pittsburgh fans who caused the reversal with letters of appeal, which he said numbered hundreds, adding:
"And I literally mean hundreds. I finally got to be something too big for me to ignore. So did the squareness and good faith of Mr. McKinney and other Pirate officials."

Everybody, in fact, apparently wanted me to take that money—so I finally did."

Second Continues Undefeated String

Continuing to be hotter than a Fourth of July firecracker in New Castle church league circles the star-studded Second U. P. team ran up its 18th straight win without a defeat last night by trouncing the Central Christians 61 to 36, at the "Y" floor.

As usual, Fritz brothers Bob and Francis were the big guns for the Second U. P. champions, with 38 of the points between them. Second held a 24 to 18 lead at halftime. Whitesides was best for the losers.

Congregationals Win
The First Congregationals defeated the Third U. P. in the other league game 39 to 34, with Steinbrink, Hughes and Mathews starring.

In an exhibition game the Trinity team defeated the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen 26 to 17, the St. Pauls having dropped out of the league, giving Trinity a forfeit.

Titans-Panthers Battle Tonight At Farrell High

Westminster After 19th Win
Of Year, Paine Playing
Final Game Against
Pitt

ALLAN McCULLOUGH FITS IN NICELY

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 22.—With only five games remaining in the Westminster college cage team which meets Pitt at Farrell High school tonight, promises to hang up one of the best records in the history of the school.

Defeated by City College of New York and Harvard are the only black marks on a record of 18 and two. T.J. Carnegie Tech, Geneva and W.-J. are the teams yet to be played following the Pitts encounter.

Anxious To Win
Coach Grover Washabaugh, who is particularly anxious to beat Pitt Saturday night, took his squad to Farrell Thursday night for a drill on the big court. The boys jked the floor and are anxious to try their skill there Saturday.

Big Freddie Paine, Titan guard, will go against Pitt for his eighth, and last time. He is the only senior on the squad. His play this season has climaxed a sensational career in college ball. He has been particularly effective against Pitt. Shenango Valley fans will get their first glimpse of Westminster's new guard, Allen McCullough of Bradford, who entered school at mid-term and has already established himself as a potential star. He played splendid ball against Slippery Rock Tuesday night and gives the Titans real reserve strength.

Ewing and Kostick of the Pittsburgh Official association, will handle the contest.

Gill Dodds To Race Tonight

New England Preacher, Nation's Greatest Miler, Fourth Win

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Gill Dodds, the fast-stepping deacon, as called as the main attraction this evening on a track and field program that started this afternoon for a run of more than 11 hours at Madison Square Garden.

The New England preacher who doubles as the nation's greatest miler was the scheduled center of interest for tonight when he seeks his fourth mile victory of the year in the National A. A. U. championships.

He alone was established as a standout favorite, and most of the events involving more than 300 track and field performers were regarded as wide open. Champions will defend their crowns in nine listed features among the seniors.

Close To Indoor Mark
The meet was slated to start shortly after noon today with the national interscholastics, qualifying trials in senior track events and finals in the weight throw.

This will set the stage for tonight's main event, when Dodds will attempt to stave off all opposition before a sellout crowd of 15,000.

In his three mile victories this season—plus another at two miles—he has run consistently close to his indoor world mark of four minutes, six and four-tenths seconds and avowedly was in shape to turn on the heat.

Chief opposition was expected to come from Rune Gustafsson, of Sweden, Tommy Quinn and Bill Hille of the New York A. C. and Mack, of Drake, and Quintin Erelford, of Ohio Wesleyan.

CHARGE PASTOR SET CHURCH AFIRE

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The 72-year-old pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church today was formally charged with setting the fire that partially destroyed the edifice last January 25.

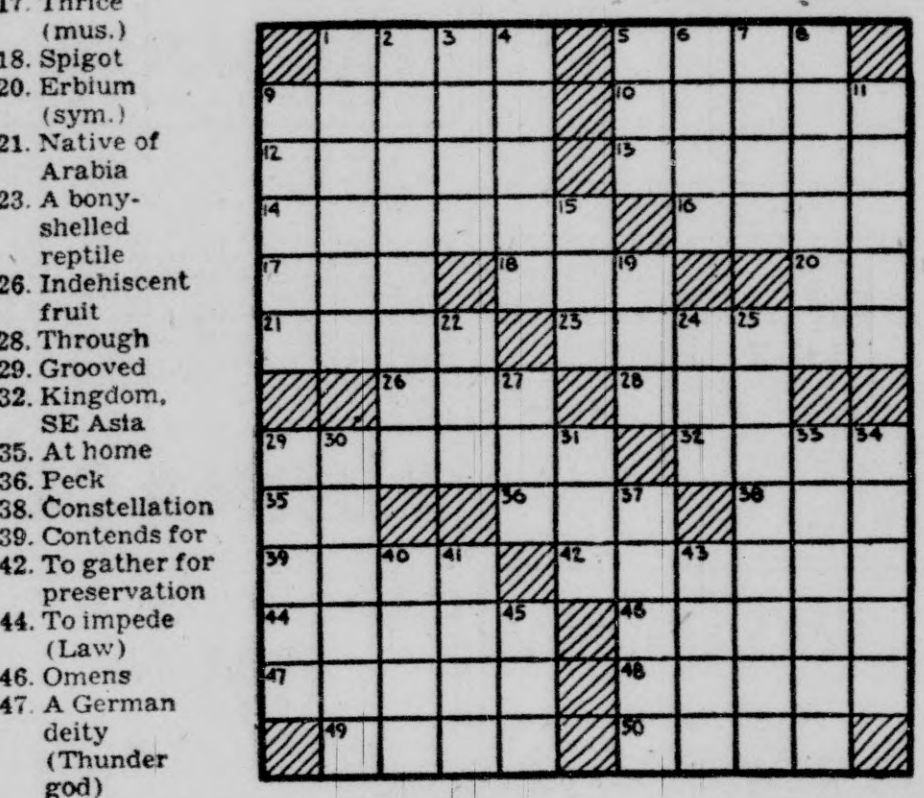

Dr. John Lewis was fingerprinted and photographed at the police bureau of identification.

Dr. Lewis was arraigned before District Judge Harvey L. Neelen, and his attorney pleaded not guilty, asked for a continuance until March 10, and urged that the widely-known pastor be released without bail.

However, the court set bail at $1,000, and the clerk accepted the pastor's personal check.

Bus Is Stalled For 15 Hours In Big Snowdrift

BALTIMORE, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Seven women and three men were rescued today after being marooned for 15 hours in a snowbound bus on the Hanover Pike, 22 miles from Baltimore.

The bus, bound from Baltimore to Hanover, Pa., stalled in a 10-foot snowdrift during last night's icy gale.

A passenger braved the almost impassable road and the fierce winds to trudge two miles to a farmhouse and telephone for aid, but rescue parties were unable to reach the scene by automobile.

A Western Maryland railroad locomotive and caboose were halted shortly after daybreak at Clyndon, Md., a quarter-mile from the stalled bus, and rescuers proceeded on foot.

None of the passengers suffered ill-effects. They said the driver manager to keep the engine going most of the night, supply some warmth.

The only food available was a huge cake which a woman passenger was taking home for a Washington birthday party. It was rationed to the hungry group.

The bus was operated by the McMahon line.

County Employees Enjoying Holiday On Anniversary Of Washington's Birthday

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

George Washington probably never thought he would be responsible for the court house employees getting only a half holiday on his birthday, but that's how it happens this year. The court house is closed today in observance of the natal day of the first President of the United States and Saturday is always a half holiday.

Next year the holiday comes on Sunday which means the employees will get a two-day holiday.

Propose Overseas American Air Lines Be Merged Into One

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Senate attention was drawn again Friday to the proposal that all overseas American air carriers be merged in one line.

This was brought up as the commerce air safety subcommittee was authorized to investigate airline finances and merger policy.

Subcommittee Chairman Brewster (R) Maine, said the McCarran bill authorizing establishment of such a line had not been referred to his group, but probably would be discussed in coming sessions.

The airlines, meanwhile, prepared for a thorough congressional analysis of their finances.

On the whole, they welcomed the investigation. A spokesman for the Air Transport Association pointed out that the ATA always had cooperated with congressional committees in such inquiries.

An official of Capital Airlines-PCA, which recently applied for increased airmail pay because of financial distress, said his organization was glad to see the inquiry.

Aside from possible consideration of a single American flag carrier, Brewster said the subcommittee sought financial information preparatory to making recommendations as to further air safety measures.

Among the matters to be considered is the possible share the carriers might be asked to contribute to safety measures over and above those already contemplated by the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

SCHOOL IS GUTTED
WARREN, Pa., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Pupils of the Pine Grove Consolidated township school were led to safety Friday when a fire gutted the building causing damage estimated at $6,000.

The blaze, caused by an overheated furnace duct, was discovered by Mildred Brady, a music teacher.

It is estimated that more food is wasted annually by delays and inefficiencies in marketing in the United States than was consumed annually by the armed forces and lend-lease shipments combined during the war.

Reuther Gets Some Straight Information

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Walter Reuther, chief of the CIO-Auto Workers Union, was given some "straight" information Friday by "Liberal" Sen. Wayne Morse (R) Ore.

Morse asked Reuther during his testimony before the Senate Labor committee if he really expected the 80th Congress to adjourn without passing labor legislation.

Reuther did not give the senator a direct answer, whereupon Morse said:

"Let me whisper in your ear: They're going to pass it."

ADDRESSING WOMAN DOCTOR
Question: How should a social invitation be addressed to a doctor and his wife who are both practicing physicians, she retaining her maiden name "Dr. Mary Smith"? He is "Dr. Henry Jones"?

Answer: Socially, she is "Mrs." and not "Dr." so address your invitations to "Dr. and Mrs. Henry Jones".

Question: Should small letters or capitals be used for R. S. V. P. Answer: A capital "R" and small s. v. p. are correct and the most widely used form. But all capitals R. S. V. P. are also permissible.

Question: I have some small forks which are supposed to be used for salad. Have they any other use? Answer: They are also used for dessert—pie and cake.

Question: Is "how do you do" always the correct acknowledgment of introduction? Answer: "How do you do" is the generally accepted and preferred form.

Question: We have had as discussion as to how the engagement and wedding rings should be worn, which should come first on the finger? Answer: The wedding ring should be put on first. The engagement ring should act as a guard over it.

Question: What is the correct way to address an envelope to a grown brother or sister: Mr. and Miss Smith—George and Mary Smith or Miss Mary and Mr. George Smith?

Answer: There is no such combination. Each should receive an individual invitation, letter, etc.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

LOVE APPLES

When grandmother was a little girl, her grandmother had some pretty things in her garden. They were little round red things. They looked like cherries. She called them love apples. She said that they were poison.

Some one found out that they were good to eat. Gardeners took an interest in them. They made them larger. They improved the taste.

These love apples are now called tomatoes and are a very valuable food.

They provide vitamins and other valuable things which we need in our diet.

They are good when they are fresh. They are good when they are canned.

Canned tomatoes or tomato juice should be on the table frequently. Tomatoes do just as much good when they are used for soup or pie.

GIVES COMMENDATION
Editor New Castle News:
Dear Mr. Editor:

Permit me to extend public congratulations to the pupils of the George Washington Junior High School for the splendid program they presented Thursday evening, February 20, in the interest of Religious Tolerance and Brotherhood.

The thesis of the "Panel Discussion" was impressively presented—that intolerance and bigotry was injected for the most part by adults and if the youngsters were left alone, we would have a sure Tolerant America. The play also, which emphasized that because people were different in color, creed and customs, this was no basis for discrimination. The entire program carried a wholesome influence and was a demonstration of the two meanings of brotherhood and of the purpose of the national movement to eliminate racial and religious prejudice.

Much credit is due the principal, Miss Nannie Mitchellree, under whose supervision the program was carried out. "My heart with rapture thrills" by this evidence of the right type of Americanism which is taught and demonstrated in the public school system of our city.
